

NATASHA ZULKIFLI

Natasha Zulkifli completed her secondary school education in Malaysia and continued her pre-university education at the Wanganui Collegiate School in Wanganui, New Zealand. From there, she travelled to London and attended the London School of Economics. In 1996 she graduated with an LL.B and obtained a Second Class (Upper) Hons, after specialising for 2 years in European Union Law.

Upon her return to Malaysia, Natasha set up Moguline Sdn Bhd, and began what was to become a long and challenging journey to set up and establish Perishable Centres at Malaysian airports as well as ensure a closed and connected Cool Chain for the Malaysian perishable sector.

Concurrently, Natasha represented a 100%-owned Siemens company, ADB, in Malaysia which specialised in airfield ground lighting. ADB was subsequently the largest supplier of airfield lighting and equipment to all Malaysian airports.

In 2003, Natasha decided to go into semi-retirement and became a full-time, hands-on mother to both Laura and Aidan.

In January 2009, Natasha rejoined the workforce as Executive Director of the Malaysia-Europe Forum (MEF), fulfilling a long, held dream; that being to be involved and play a role in creating better understanding between Malaysia and the EU.
